Course Description

This section of University 099, Strategies for Success will focus on metacognitive approaches for creating college success in the broadest sense. This course will help students to identify any learning difficulties they may have and devise different methods for turning those difficulties into strengths. This course will address time management, learning styles, accountability, reading skills, note-taking strategies, among a host of other academic tools for achievement. We will share our ideas in class through vigorous and thoughtful discussion.

Although this class will become a site of collaboration and group effort, we must all keep in mind that the class is composed of individuals with various opinions and ideas. Therefore, I certainly do not expect you to agree with me or with each other all of the time. I do, however, require you to respect one another and listen to the comments offered up from your peers. If you are going to disagree or debate a point, please remember to do so politely, calmly, and

Course Policies

I do not tolerate plagiarism or cheating. We are an intellectual and academic community, and all of us are responsible to act with integrity. All violations of the Gonzaga Academic Honesty Policy will result in a zero on the assignment.

Plagiarism is the act of passing another's work off as your own. In your journal reflections, I encourage you to engage with others' ideas but do not copy and paste without identifying the original author.

As an ironic example, part of this syllabus is lifted from a common syllabus used in every iteration of this class.

The GU Academic Honesty Policy outlines the University's expectations for the integrity of students' academic work. It is your responsibility (1) to uphold the highest standards of academic integrity, (2) to refuse to tolerate violations of academic integrity in the university community, and (3) to foster a high sense of integrity and social responsibility on the part of the university community. reasonably. Remember that it is difficult to know the beliefs, moods, or feelings of your peers. Please be generous and sensitive to everyone involved.

Course Learning Outcomes

1. Identify what's keeping you from performing at your best in the classroom.
2. Improve your academic performance in other courses by cultivating better studying habits and creating better learning environments.
3. Create a dynamic learning community that helps one another succeed in class work.

Student Responsibilities

As a student enrolled in this course, you agree to do the following:

- 1) Come to class, arrive on time, and stay for the entire meeting. Make-up accommodations will only be offered for documented University approved activities, extreme illness (i.e., not allergies or a cold), or family emergency.
- 2) Complete assigned readings, in their entirety, on schedule. You should complete assigned readings by the start of the class meeting. And bring the readings and worksheets to class. Chatting about the readings and discussing our own strengths and weaknesses when it comes to studying will be a big part of this class.
- 3) Contribute to class discussions. You should come to class with questions and comments, prepared to participate in a lively discussion.
- 4) Complete all assignments, in a timely manner. I will allow extensions for in distressing cases of family emergencies and extreme illness. Otherwise late assignments will be deducted a full letter grade for every day it is late, starting immediately at the beginning of class.
- 5) Ask for help when you need it. I am happy to assist students in their attempts to master course materials and successfully complete course assignments. Come to my office hours and I am always available via email.

Accommodations

Americans with Disabilities Act:

Students with disabilities who need academic accommodations should:

1. Register with and provide documentation to the Disability Access.
2. Bring a letter to me from the Disability Access Office indicating the need for accommodation and what type. This should be done within the first two weeks of class.

For more information about services available to GU students with disabilities, contact: disability@gonzaga.edu; 313-4134. Or visit their office in Foley 209.
